

Consultants (m/f) Business Controlling & Strategy Alignment Telecommunications

Your tasks...

You are responsible for ensuring the highest possible efficiency and quality in the planning and implementation of customer-internal, complex projects and/or programs within the telecommunications branch.

Within the project business you support our international and professional teams through direct customer contact, focussing on project and program management, IT and product strategy, IT technologies and standards, process optimisation and service operations management.

Within this framework you analyse and assess planned and running projects regarding conformity with IT and marketing strategy, detect potential savings and synergy effects in the technical and procedural implementation, as well as the operation of services. Furthermore, you introduce target achievement systems and index systems for the central controlling. For this, you make use of your professional experience, well-grounded industry knowledge and methodical competence.

Your profile...

In addition to a degree with a technical or economical focus you have several years of professional experience in the relevant tasks. You have already undertaken independent projects in the named areas and convince through extensive know-how in business topics, as well a very good understanding of relevant IT processes and structures.

Furthermore you have special competences and practical experience in at least one of the following foci:

- Project management standards (PMI, Prince2...),
- Process best practices (SixSigma, CMMI ...),
- Cost and use-of-potential (TCO, ROI, ROPI...),
- Strategy development/-analysis,
- IT standards and frameworks (ITIL, ISO 20000, Cobit...),
- Index systems (IT dashboards, scorecards...).

You have very good analytical and communicative skills, work target-oriented, and like to take the initiative and shoulder the responsibility in difficult situations. Convincing manners as well as the capability to work team-oriented distinguish you further. A high level of customer and service orientation is natural to you. Good knowledge of spoken and written English round off your profile.
